SCHINDELBRUCH
NATURRESORT & SPA

Here I have arrived.

My family's possessions had been lost during the war. And so, immediately after reunification, I applied to the Treuhand for forest land in East Germany again. Having often come away empty-handed as the 'second winner', I won the tender for the forestry operation near Stolberg/Harz in 1994.

Thanks to my education and professional life, I had seen a lot of the world, lived on three continents, but remained rootless. I was always looking for a special place where I wanted to stay. Once I arrived in the southern Harz, amidst the rustling leaves of the copper-beech forests, I discovered my region. It offers so much more than just beauty - in addition to peace, protection and vastness - there is always something new. This is exactly where I found my home.

For me, the forest is more than just hunting and forestry. And sustainability is not about doing without, but about using the resource intelligently. Embracing the forest paved the way for the desire to share this place with others, to show others the beauty and fascination of the region. To make a 'home' tangible not only for me, but also for guests.

It's great to have you here!
